

Risk Warning

Please note that conducting financial activities or transactions via trading platform has natural risks. You can get losses for part or all of your investment. Therefore, it is advised to conduct your commercial transaction only after evaluating all the risks, related to expenses, investment objectives and your experience, and if necessary, professional advice should be sought. You should deal with care to the relationships established online through Internet, especially through social networks such as Tinder, WeChat and Facebook.

For the purpose of reducing natural risks, we suggest to match the following:

- Do not trade or invest depending on the advices you got from unknown or unreliable people
- Do not participate in financial activities with people or institutions that you do not have any information or previous experience with.
- Do not disclose your financial information to anyone.
- Do not trust anyone who promises you with "special investment opportunity" and offers you supportive behavior.
- Do not share your account information, your document identification number or any other confidential information with suspicious people.
- Do not participate in those projects that promise you unusually high profits or abnormally high returns.
- Never share your account certificate with anyone.

META Quotes Ltd. Company is a trading platform development company, and it does not provide financial, investment and broker services. META Quotes Ltd Company is not a participant and will never contributes to any trading business, nor will open or control real trading accounts. None of the information provided in the application will be considered investment advices. META Quotes Ltd Company will not be responsible for your investment decisions

Trading platform developer:

- It does not have access to your account
- It does not have access to information related to your account(s), including but not limited to conditions and balance(s).
- It does not save information related to your business.
- It does not participate in depositing or withdrawing funds through the trading platform.

Black Stallion Company for General Trading and Financial Services Ltd, the commercial broker Authorized and approved in Iraq and Kurdistan, is the only broker depends on the principle of transparency, meaning that it works according to (STP) and (ECN) through its relationship with the global network for trading currency, stocks, metals and all commercial bonds. Black Stallion is the only brand name that has rights officially reserved by. (Black stallion company for general trading and financial services ltd) under the serial (31501) in the certificate of incorporation of the company registered in the Ministry of Commerce, General Directorate of Companies Registration under the serial (8171) on (10/18/2021). We at Black Stallion provide all financial services by connecting our subscribers to global markets with the latest digital technologies and the fastest known tools, and this enables our subscribers to conduct various commercial transactions with the utmost efficiency, speed and generality. This all can be done and guaranteed only through our trading platform during dealing with various packages of stocks, currency, metals and commercial bonds. We are the official and academic center for providing courses and lessons for teaching trade and investment, market analysis, notifying traders and directing them from primitive people to advanced and professional levels, ensuring their extensive information and providing all services in the most superior ways and plans known as traders and investor's specification. Meta Trader and other commercial platforms for global trade exchange are known as a center in which many experienced and skilled investors obtained big profits, and at the same time they are not free from great risks resulting from the large and very rapid inflation in prices due to economic and political and social reasons, wars and natural disasters that may be due to (suspension of transactions, collapse of the market and emergence of a gap in the market) like all other commercial and investment activities. Before you start a commercial transaction, you should know all the details through our website about (type of transaction, account type, commission, spread, contract expiry times, leverage and etc...), and any other commercial activities related to the market (www.blackstallionfx.com).

Dealing in market options, various contracts, and precious metals has great risks due to leverage, and it is not suitable for everyone, therefore you should understand the term leverage and know its severity. Black Stallion, which is a broker for digital commercial transactions, does not provide investment consultant services. On the contrary, all analysis, vision and data will be based on the principle of searching on Black Stallion websites for the purpose of information, clarification, knowledge and educating traders. Under any circumstances it is not necessarily become a proposal or recommendation to buy and sell, therefore the subscriber should always search for an independent advisor, because Black Stallion is a digital transaction broker whose job is only to provide facilities for buying and selling, linking investors and traders to the global market and stock exchanges, and informing them of the Scientific analytics of analysts, international academics and their clarifications. This clearly means that Black Stallion trading platform only provides services and access to all the tools necessary to facilitate buying, selling and exchange transactions, so the only figure is the user himself and he is the first and only responsible for the decisions and their consequences.